

READING LINK CHALLENGE

IS YOUR SCHOOL INTERESTED IN JOINING READING LINK CHALLENGE? HERE'S WHAT YOU NEED TO KNOW!

OVERVIEW

RLC is a quiz type program for children in grades four and five. In response to research showing that children's reading often drops off in grade four, RLC promotes reading for pleasure and retention, and exposes kids to new books and authors.

Every year six junior fiction books are chosen that cover a variety of reading levels and interests, including boy/girl interest, multicultural themes and Canadian authors. The planning team creates questions from each of the books for every level of the challenge. RLC is a province-wide program, with participating library systems from the Lower Mainland, Sea to Sky corridor, Vancouver Island and the Kootenays.

YOUR COMMITMENTS

1. Promote RLC to grades four and five students in your school and encourage them to create six person teams.
2. Host a book talk in November where local library staff present chosen titles and deliver book sets to the teams.
3. Encourage students to read books for details and practice answering trivia questions from the books to prepare for the Challenges.
4. Help facilitate the School Challenge and organize transportation of winning teams to higher levels of challenge.
5. Help us evaluate the program by providing feedback and participating in surveys.

HOW IT WORKS

- In early fall public library staff make contact with schools to promote the program.
- Interested students form teams of six—teachers register teams with library by the end of October.
- Libraries order book sets based on the number of registered teams (schools must have a minimum of two teams to participate, though four to six teams per school is ideal).
- Beginning in early November, the six book titles are announced at school book talks, and the book sets are delivered to the schools.
- Each team is responsible for knowing the contents of the six books, with each participant responsible for reading at least one of the books (but usually more).
- All teams then participate in one or more levels of Challenge.
- In February/March the Challenges begin:

#1 SCHOOL CHALLENGE

Teams challenge other teams in their school.

#2 LIBRARY CHALLENGE

Winning school teams challenge each other at their local library branch.

#3 COMMUNITY CHALLENGE

Each of the Library Challenge winners meets to determine the overall library system winner.

#4 GRAND CHALLENGE

Currently, winning teams from Coquitlam, Fraser Valley, North Vancouver City and Surrey challenge each other to determine an overall winning team. Other Lower Mainland library systems are welcome to join this level of Challenge!
